

Learning Log: Think about data in daily life

Instructions

You can use this document as a template for the learning log activity: Think about data in daily life. Type your answers in this document, and save it on your computer or Google Drive.

We recommend that you save every learning log in one folder and include a date in the file name to help you stay organized. Important information like course number, title, and activity name are already included. After you finish your learning log entry, you can come back and reread your responses later to understand how your opinions on different topics may have changed throughout the courses.

To review detailed instructions on how to complete this activity, please return to Coursera: Learning Log: Think about data in daily life.

Date: 16/6/22	Course/topic: Course 1: Foundations: Data, Data Everywhere Learning Log: Think about data in daily life
Everyday data	Create a list of at least five questions: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. What is the best way to study?2. How much time do I spend productively?3. When should I order new cat food?4. How can I budget at university?5. Which genre of books do I read the most? Now, select one of the five questions from your list to explore. Selected question: What is the best way to study?
Reflection:	Write 2-3 sentences (40-60 words) in response to each of the questions below.
Questions and responses:	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• What are some considerations or preferences you want to keep in mind when making a decision? What are the different methods of studying? How does each method differ? How long does each method take for a particular topic?• What kind of information or data do you have access to that will influence your decision? My personal study preferences. The type of material that I study. What my aims are for a study session.• Are there any other things you might want to track associated with this decision? How difficult each method is. Ease of use. Availability of free time to use for studying